'NOT GUILTY,' SCOTCH COLLIE TELLS COUR

In Canine Tongue, Which, the Understood.

JACKSON, Mich., July 29 .- A Scotch collie dog was acquitted in police court of the charge of being fierce and vicious." The complaint, which was directed against the owner, John De Landers, but meant far more to the dog's welfare than to John's was signed by T. P. Murphy, a street car motorman Mr. Murphy resides at 347 Bush street and Mr. De Landers at 307 Bush street. Each of them owns a dog, and recently the two animals participated in a chewmg match on Mr. Murphy's front porch. The latter's little girl tried to pass them at the time they were "scrapping," and the Scotch collie snarled and snapped at her, perhaps thinking she was bent on

Mr. Murphy testified that while the dog did not bite the child and could not say the canine had ever bitten any one, still he contended the Scotch collie had a disposition to be barking and str-

"He is a regular fight promoter and a nulsance in the neighborhood," said the complainant to the judge.

The defendant had brought into court The defendant had brought into court a raft of children who have been in the habit of playing with the dog, and they declared the dog was all right. Then came the dogs turn, and he took the stand in his own defense, jumped up into the witness chair, wagged his tail, blinked his eyes, and extended his tongue and shook himself joyously as Judge Dahlem talked to him and asked him if it were true that he was ever naughty.

him if it were true that he was ever naughty.
"He never bites, just plays," re-marked one of the children while pat-ting him, on the back.
The judge concluded the dog was not victous or dangerous, and returned a verdict of not guilty.

BLACKWELL'S ISLAND MAY RIVAL SING SING

Miss Katharine B. Davis Visits Prison and May Adopt Some of Osborne's Ideas.

NEW YORK, July 29 .- The intro duction in the penftentiary and the workhouse on Blackwell's Island of some of the reforms which have been instituted by Warden Osborne in Sing Sing prison, was foreshadowed by a visit which Commissioner of Correction Katharine B. Davis made to the State prison to observe the system. She came away expressing unqualified approval of Warden Osborne's meth-

It was the first visit that Miss Davis had made to the prison under the Osborne administration. "What impressed me," she said, "was the self-respect which the men have gained. They hold up their heads and do not seem afraid to look you Church at N. W. Phone North 7980 in the eye. So far as the three women in the party are concerned, we were treated with as much respect as we would have received in a ballroom. There seems to me much more deference for a woman here than there is in the institutions on Blackwell's Island."

Miss Davis was accompanied by Miss Mary B. Harris, who is the superintendent of the women in the work-house, and by Miss Anna Wetherford a writer of Oakland, Cal. They reached the prison while the prisoners were ed the prison while the prisoners were electioneering in a campaign for dele-gates to the Mutual Welfare League to be elected today. The prison yard was dotted with soap boxes surmounted by candidates asking for votes.

Upon invitation of one of the prisoners the commissioner mounted a box and made a congratulatory speech.

Cardner Kills Rooster That Rooted Up His Plants, and Legal Battle Follows.

MISSION SAN JOSE, Cal., July 29 .-Jose Silvera had a vegetable garden. Manuel Fonda had a rooster. Hence

Silvera loved onions. He knew that he could buy them and that he could raise them. Because of economic pres-sure, he decided to have a garden. He planted omons and his sarden thrived Fonda loved his rooster, a black Min-orca. In fact, he loved it almost as much as he did his neighbor, Silvera. Early in March, when the Silvera chions were sprouting, the Fonda roost-er flew over into the Silvera patch. He was a busy Minorca. In half an hour he

Blames Old Harvard For Loss of River Business

BOSTON, July 29 .- "Harvard Univer sity is responsible for driving practically all of the business interests of Cambridge off the river. I don't want to put myself in a position of 'knocking' put myself in a position of 'knocking' Harvard nor to say that we are not all glad in Cambridge that we have the university with us, but I do say that Cambridge would be better off financially if Harvard had not devised this scheme of a basin and dam."

Thus spoke James F. A.yward, city solicitor of Cambridge, to a special commission appointed by the superior court. He showed that Cambridge's loss in business on the river front was $32,935. He showed that Cambridge's loss in business on the river front was $22,925,-
